

I would like to express four simple thoughts:

- 1) You are totally unique, created beautifully in the image and likeness of infinite beauty, holding within yourself a radiant, exquisite embodiment of the Divine, having an intricately woven and special place in life given to you in life by divine decree.
- 2) You are necessary to the rest of us. Without you we would be incomplete. With you and the very special place you occupy in life's design, we are whole and complete and connected.
- 3) You fit. You fit in the most perfect way possible. You fit in a way that completes you and fulfills us. You fit in your own rich, dynamic and perfect way. That way is filled with wonder and awe. Yes you fit beautifully, intimately, sensationally, divinely.
- 4) You deserve to live everyday in this perfect fit. In your special groove. And in the unique connectedness to life that is yours. No matter what or who might invite you to another way, another path, another style of living, another definition of self, please know you have the right, yes the right, and the inspiration to stay in the groove that works for you. Indeed the groove, the fit that is yours by design.
